Context (Where Found / Viewed / Read?)

My grandma emailed me a website with aerial pictures

Content / CD / Summary / Precis (Say? "Plot? Setting/Situation? Key lines/phrases scenes, etc?)

Sometimes perspective makes a huge difference in how one sees something. This is an aerial photograph of Central Park in New York City, depicting a vast green area and a small lake surrounded by a huge concrete jungle of tall buildings and activity.

Content / CM / Meaning? / Theme(s)?

In the middle of a hustling bustling busy city, a calm and placid park gives people a break from the sights and smells of urban life. The theme of this picture is tranquility. Another theme is contrast. The park is a very tranquil place compared to the busy city right nextdoor. Another theme is boundaries. Central Park has a very defined shape with clear cut boundaries. On one side of the line is a crazy city, and on the other side, a calm park.

Form (Diction? Construction Terms? Symbolism?)

This entire picture is symbolism for our lives. We have peaceful moments that are immediately followed by unannounced, crazy moments, but it all flows together in a weird sort of way we call life.

Commentary (What do you want to say? Why like? Questions? Synthesis / Allusions-Connections / Relevance to personal experience, to literature, 20Q's? etc.)? "Poetic" Traits?

I like this picture because it shows one of the biggest cities in the world and one of the most famous cities in the country from a different perspective: from above. It shows one of the most famous and recognizable parks in the country, and presents its beauty in a way not usually seen. It shows the rhythms of the city and the rhythms of life in general.
